

INTERNATIONAL SECURITY AT THE AUSTRALIAN NATIONAL UNIVERSITY

The International Security Program

The program is interdisciplinary drawing on the ANU's expertise in Strategic Defence Studies, International Relations, Politics, History, and Asia-Pacific Studies.

In addition to themed coursework, International Security participants will complete a prestigious internship or student-initiated research project, all for credit. All participants undertake:

- 1 x 6-point ANIP internship or student-initiated research project. (You may choose to do a 12-point ANIP and take one less 6-point class.)
- 2 x 6-point units from the International Security Studies list.
- 1 x 6-point unit from anywhere in the university.
