Dr. Rose Walls is an American citizen who is a resident of Ghana. She came to the UCEAP Ghana Study Center in 2011 with more than twenty years of experience in clinical, educational, development, legal, and management functions including counseling, directing, instructing, and supervising students and Peace Corps volunteers. As the Resident Director of the Ghana Study Center, she provides and coordinates a wide variety of student services including academic advising, special study projects, volunteer opportunities, and counseling and support. Whether it's cooking lessons or a field trip to the New Year Festival on the Cape Coast, the Study Center's numerous activities cultivate cultural immersion while enhancing awareness, learning, and exploration. At the same time, the Ghana Study Center diligently looks out for the good health and safety of our students.

Dr. Rose Walls, with the incredible support of Ms. Sharon Okantey, Ms. Dorcas Oware, and Mr. Solomon Mensah provides an invaluable service to the University of California Education Abroad Program. The members of the Ghana Study Center look forward to meeting future UCEAP students and keeping in touch with former participants.
