The Autonomous Univ. of Barcelona and the Univ. of Barcelona programs include several excursions to fascinating places, such as the Dali museum, Montserrat and St. Pere de Rodes monasteries, and the wine caves at Codorniu, and other exciting places around Catalonia to experience the lifestyle and culture.

The Autonomous Univ. of Barcelona’s unified campus is located just outside the city. Most students live in the city and appreciate the train ride out to campus, which provides them with a chance to catch up on schoolwork or rest after class, all while enabling them to see a bit more of the country’s beauty.

The University of Barcelona is made up of facultades scattered throughout the city. Some students decide to live near whichever facultad hosts the majority of the classes they select. Others live in areas of the city that suit their extracurricular interests. Commuting is part of daily life in Barcelona and students become very familiar with the city’s excellent public transportation system.
