

Request for Disability Accommodations Abroad Instructions

Tips for Students with Disabilities

- Disclose Early: Some accommodations may require three to six months advance notice.
- Plan Ahead: Research the accessibility of accommodations at the host institution and funding for accommodations.
- Be Flexible: Services and accessibility standards may be different.

Submitting Documentation to UCEAP

Do this early so UCEAP has time to correspond with the host institution about accommodations that may be available. To request reasonable accommodations while on EAP, submit a letter from your campus Office for Students with Disabilities documenting your accommodation needs and whether they will be funded. Some host institutions require this letter to research or make arrangements.

Accommodations abroad may differ and/or may not be available in the host country.

UCEAP does not pay for the cost of accommodations.

If you are participating in more than one UCEAP program, you must submit a letter for each program. Your requests need to be considered separately by each program provider or host university. If you extend your participation in UCEAP after you are abroad, you will need to submit a new letter at time of extension.
