

BIOLOGICAL & ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE

My independent research in marine biology enhanced my love of the ocean, opened new doors to research and other fields of study, and provided insight into another life and culture beyond California coasts. I loved it!

BIOLOGICAL & ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE

Studying abroad offers an exciting framework for your major, equipping you with an international résumé and confidence in your field. On UCEAP, you can earn UC credit as you backpack through tropical forests in Costa Rica, research the Great Barrier Reef in Australia, or work in high-end laboratories in Japan.

UC-Approved Courses

All our courses abroad award UC credit and grades. Among many topics, explore global climate change, diverse ecosystems, conservation and sustainability, zoology, genetics, microbiology, neuroscience, resource management—the list goes on.
