Online Registration Instructions
Lund University
Summer L&C + Fall/Year, Fall Semester, Academic Year 2016-17

The 2016-17 Lund University online application is not yet available

You will be notified via email when the application is available, which is likely to be around mid-April. Please note that the registration window is open for approximately two (2) weeks.

We strongly recommend that you begin to review the Lund courses now, and if necessary, discuss them with your campus academic/departmental advisor(s) prior to completing your Lund online registration in April.

You will be finalizing your course selection upon arrival in Lund, however you need to take the time now to do some research and select the courses that you would like to take while you are there.

  *If the course lists for 2016-17 are not yet posted, please refer to the information listed for 2015-16, as typically there are only small changes from year to year. Choose extra courses in case some of your preferences are not available.

- Special Area Studies (SAS) Courses:
  Lund University offers exchange students the opportunity to take additional courses outside their chosen studies in a wide range of subjects, including Swedish culture and society and also European and global issues.

- Include all of the courses in which you are interested on the Online Application – you are not able to “shop around” at the beginning of the term to the same extent you may be accustomed to at UC. Pay careful attention to the schedule of classes, the number of credits, and the prerequisites.

- Additional courses are usually announced closer to the start of the Fall semester – these you are able to sign up for upon your arrival to Lund.
